

Outline looks good. Please pay attention to the UML diagrams. How do you represent the functionality as well as threats within the system. It will be good to also think about the data to be stored. This should then give a complete view of the system.

Revised diagrams look good. Best of luck.